STANDARDS DOCUMENTS

IMPORTANT — PLEASE READ

The majority of standards are published under copyright. Infringement of copyrights results in lost revenue for the owners and could result in legal action being instituted for flagrant violations.

It may also be important to note that the standard being used for reference may not be the latest issue. If it is important that the latest issue be referenced it is recommended that the most recently published copy be obtained. In order to help you obtain your own copies, a list of some of the more important standards organizations are listed on the reverse side showing their addresses and telephone numbers.

STANDARDS COUNCIL OF CANADA — STANDARDS INFORMATION SERVICE

The Council provides a no charge service through a toll free telephone line for enquiries concerning domestic and foreign standards and trade (including GATT) information. This service includes research to determine whether standards exist for any type of product as well as the contents and sources of such documents. The toll free number is 1-800-267-8220. In the Ottawa area call 613-238-3222. Telex 053-4403. They maintain a collection of over 350,000 standards and related documents.

ALBERTA PUBLIC WORKS, SUPPLY AND SERVICES, EDMONTON

Supply Management, through their Operational Support Services Branch also maintains and has access to a large number of documents. Please call 403-427-8896 in Edmonton, and ask for Standards and Technical services.

INTRODUCTION

The purpose of developing this directory was to provide to participating libraries and others, information regarding the various collections of Standards and related documents that are available in Alberta.

The directory was prepared by Alberta Public Works, Supply and Services, Supply Management, in cooperation with the organizations listed herein, and in particular the Edmonton and Calgary Chapters of the Canadian Association of Specialized Libraries and Information Science.

Supply Management provides a resource in terms of information on standards, specifications, quality management systems and certification listings. You are invited to make use of that resource.

For further information or to provide corrections or additions to this document, please contact:

Standards and Technical Services
3rd Floor, 6950 - 113 Street
Edmonton, Alberta T6H 5V7
Telephone: (403) 427-8896

How to Use the Directory

This directory contains 3 sections which are as follows:

1. Alphabetical listing of names and acronyms of Standards Writing Organizations.

2. Locations of Collection:

   This section is listed in alphabetical order by the acronym of each standards writing organization. Following this name will be found a list of the locations having such collections, preceded by a number. This number, when used in conjunction with section 3 of the directory, will provide complete information on the location of collections. Abbreviations used in section 2 are explained on page 3.

3. Numerical Listing of Locations:

   This section is in numerical order and provides the name, address, telephone number and contact person for the collections listed.

Availability of Documents

The method or rules of access to collections varies from one library to the next. Please contact the holders of these collections for further information. Where the letter "P" is shown under the heading, Preferred location, please first contact those locations, for a particular city.

Explanation of Fields in the Directory

Percent of Collection

Provides an indication of the completeness of any given collection. Those containing less than 10% are not listed.

Superseded Copies Kept

Indicates whether or not superseded copies are kept.

Format

Indicates what format the collection is in:

HC - Hard copy
MFM - Microfilm
MFH - Microfiche

Current

Indicates whether or not the collections are regularly updated. If the collection is not current, the year of the last update is indicated.

Preferred Location

Where the letter "P" is shown this indicates the preferred locations to contact in a particular city.
